

Deadline Extended To 5 pm For Presidential Nominations

Her Majesty Queen Rhoda

The deadline for nominations for President of the Students' Society has been constitutionally extended to 5 pm today, since to date there has been only one nomination for the post.

In addition, two students, David Goldenblatt and Peter King, are contesting the post of President of the Students' Union and Vice-President of the Students' Society.

The extension of the deadline for Presidential nominations is made mandatory by Article V, Section b of the constitution of the Students' Society. This has been one of the few times in recent years that the article has been invoked.

NEW UNION EMPHASIS

Both candidates for Vice-President of the Students' Society intend to give the New Union issue high emphasis in their campaigns. Goldenblatt, a first-year law student, stated yesterday that he thinks the New Union will be started during the next administration, and that he hopes to provide "some student voice in planning for the New Union". He also stressed that the New Union should remain "under student administration and not in the hands of some University warden".

Goldenblatt also pledged "certain administrative improvements" and pointed out that he has had the administrative experience necessary for the post.

Peter King, a fourth-year engineering student, and presently Chairman of the Students' Athletics Council, has designated as the two main issues of the campaign "the autonomy of the New Union and an increase in its priority". He also pointed out that there are many student activities that "take some time to get going, and it would be a shame if someone who did not know the ropes set back the project".

He repeated this theme in connection with the New Union. He stated that all the work and persuasion with the University administration "could go right out the window if someone who did not realize the implications of this issue handled it badly". He summed up his statement by saying that "it's experience that's going to count".

COMMERCE POSITIONS

Nominations for positions in the Commerce Undergraduate Society were also announced. Nominated for President were Roz Hyman and Sheve Saunders; for Vice-President, Gerald Kishner, Doug Barrington, and Leon Feinstein; for Treasurer, Mike Pesner, Bob Tedford, and Mike Rosenswig; for Athletics Representative, Ricky Blat, Frazer Wilson, and Joe Zalter. Acclaimed were Marilyn Hayes and Nancy Davis as Secretaries; Norma Phillips as W.A.A. Representative.

Elections will be held on March 1.

Fraser Allan Is New Chairman Of Athletics Council

Fraser Allan, a fourth-year Chemical Engineer and member of the football Redmen, has been acclaimed Chairman of the Students' Athletics Council.

In a statement last night, Allan stated that he hoped that his connection with the football team would prove useful. He promised to attempt to "nurture the interest shown in football last year, and to increase the spirit at athletic events".

X-Ray Appointments

All Arts students in second, third, or fourth years who were here in 1960-61, must make an appointment for a chest X-Ray or pay a $25 fine. Appointments can be made in the Arts Building from today until Thursday, February 22 from 9 am to 4:30 pm.

Remodeled Carnival Hailed As Success

by BILL HERSH

"It's fantastic, I can't believe it," gasped Rhoda Feinstein last Thursday night as she was crowned Queen of McGill's 1962 Winter Carnival. The ceremony climaxed a gigantic twist party on the Lower Campus attended by over five thousand exuberant celebrants.

Maurice "Rocket" Richard performed the coronation ceremony before the massive cheering and shivering audience. Students were aggravated by the prolonged suspense as Carnival Chairman Phil DeZwirek and Master of Ceremonies Jack Finnegan delayed announcing the winner by telling old jokes. However, they were soon set at ease as DeZwirek tore open the sealed envelope and declared Rhoda the Queen. Later, photographers, who stepped in front of the platform, were pelted with a myriad of snowballs from the people beneath who wanted a better view of Her Majesty and her court.

CONGRATULATED

Rhoda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Feinstein of Hampstead, was officially congratulated and kissed by Councillor Charness who came directly from the Mayor's Office. When asked what her plans for the future include, she replied, "I guess I want to be a high school teacher".

Inside after the coronation, surrounded by reporters, Rhoda said that it was the first contest of this sort that she had ever won and that the whirlwind week of TV and radio appearances, publicity shots and incidental "kidnapping" were wonderful.

"Look at your people outside", a photographer shouted, "Turn around". "But that's my bad side", she replied, and the interview continued.

Thursday night began with an extensive ice show in the cool winter Stadium. Acts verged from intricate skating demonstrations to ridiculous western showdowns.

BIRKS TROPHY

Then McGill finally did it. The Redmen carried off the Birks Trophy for the first time in many years. A third period rally by the inspired club produced a 6-4 victory to end a perfect night as Leo Konyk was feted before the third frame. Konyk received a trophy, suitably inscribed for his eight years of service to McGill, playing on 13 major sports teams. He got a standing ovation from the crowd as Vice-Principal H.N. Fieldhouse and "Rocket" Richard congratulated him under a huge banner in his honour at center ice.

Preparations and ceremonies for Konyk were under the direction of Red and White Committee Co-Chairman Cameron Grout, who managed to keep the whole affair under wraps until a few days before the big day.

A torchlight parade from the Winter Stadium was led by the five princesses in sports cars to the Twist-a-platform in front of the Library. There, the coronation ceremonies took place.

Friday, activity took to the Lau-rentians. Mont Habitant was invaded by over a thousand skiing, tobogganing and skating McGillians. The Jazz Society won the Toboggan races and McGill Harriers beat out the University of Montreal team at carrying the torch from Montreal. Lee Blanshay chaired the events.

Friday night, the Chad Mitchell Trio headlined a Revue at the Currie Gym which played to a sellout crowd. On Saturday night at the Ball, most of the acts repeated their performances so that those turned away on Friday could enjoy the acts.

DE ZWIWEK COMMENTS

Phil DeZwirek summed up the festive weekend: "We think that this Carnival has been very successful."

RMC Wins Trophy In Debating Tournament

by ROBERT PRINSKY

The Royal Military College carried off the honours in the annual Winter Carnival Debating Tournament last weekend. It was the first time since 1954 that a Canadian school had won.

The Bucchari Trophy was awarded to the RMC affirmative team, which consisted of Officer Cadets Mike Brett and Jules Payne. They defeated the top negative team, from New York University, Roy Heimlich and Henry Sobel.

The debate topic was "Resolved that the Western Alliance must pursue a policy of strength and firmness rather than a compromise with the forces of world Communism".

Academic Vice-Principal H.N. Fieldhouse officially closed the Tournament at a banquet Saturday night with an address consisting of humorous anecdotes concerning debating that he had picked up over years.

WINNERS

Mike Brett, from Vancouver, is a third-year Engineering student at RMC, while Jules Payne, a Torontonian, is in third-year Political Science. The two called the tournament "an interesting experience". It was the first major tournament either had won.

Both Roy Heimlich and Henry Sobel are New Yorkers taking a pre-Law course at NYU. They were not used to the Canadian style of debating, but nevertheless they said they enjoyed using it.

Heimlich has won the New York City metropolitan championship, and Sobel finished first in the NYU Tournament this year. The latter was also named top debater in the McGill Tournament.

Not since McMaster won it in 1954 has a Canadian school copped the Bucchari Trophy, and RMC is the only such Canadian winner in the cup's history. Last year's champion was Union College, Albany.

FIELDHOUSE

Vice-Principal Fieldhouse, in a candid and comical address, spoke about both banquets and debating which he deemed appropriate for the occasion.

He commented on debating: "I looked it up in the dictionary... and found it to be sandwiched between Debase and Debauch".

On Selwyn Lloyd: "Once he has made up his mind about a subject, no power on earth can make him stick to it".

On an English judge who, upon hearing an accused plead, "As God is my judge, I am innocent", answered, "He's not, I am, and you're not".

On the Fox Trot: "Going for a walk, slightly impeded by a member of the opposite sex".

On a woman who had been accused of having four illegitimate children: "I make it a practice never to believe more than half of what people tell me".

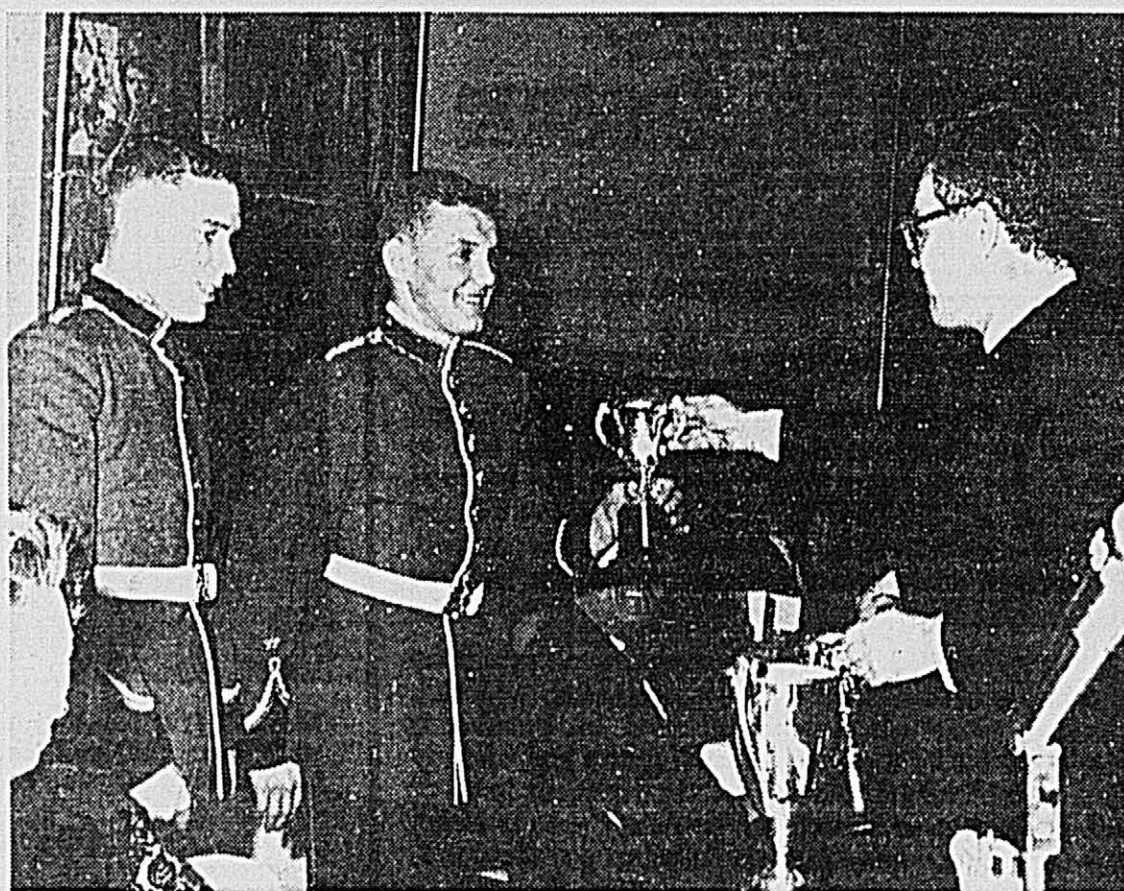

Prof. Fieldhouse was thanked by Debating Union President Bill Fraiberg who assured him, "If you look to your left, and to your right, and even straight ahead, you will see smiling faces".

CHAIRMAN

Tournament Chairman, Dave Genser, told the Daily that he was very pleased with the way things had turned out, and especially that there was such a large attendance at the final debate between RMC and NYU.

Another spokesman said that this year's event was more successful.

Professor W.A. Westley, Chairman of the Department of Sociology, presents the Bucchari Trophy to Mike Brett and Jules Payne, Officer Cadets of the Royal Military College. The presentation marked the close of the Carnival Debating Tournament, in which the RMC team successfully upheld the topic "Resolved that the Western Alliance must pursue a policy of strength and firmness rather than a compromise with the forces of world Communism."

ful than that of 1961, and that the calibre of participants seems to improve every year.

Many colleges sent two teams to the tournament, an affirmative and a negative side. Sixty teams from forty schools took part. McGill's entries, consisting entirely of novices, finished well out of the running.

The judges were Professor Westley, Chairman of the Sociology Department, Mrs. Clarence Gross, prominent Montreal lawyer, and Phil DeZwirek, Carnival Chairman and himself a competent debator.

A reception was given at City Hall for the debators on Saturday afternoon, when all signed the Golden Book.

Ten teams completed the Tournament undefeated, but final scoring was done on a point system. Undefeated affirmative teams were from RMC, Temple, Amherst, Rutgers and Toronto, and negatives from NYU, Harvard, Rutgers, Sir George, and Hofstra.

Dr. Walter Kaufmann Analyses Existentialism

Dr. Walter Kaufmann, a Professor of Philosophy at Princeton University, will discuss "A Critique of Existentialism" at Moyse Hall tonight in a talk sponsored by the Bnai Brith Hillel Foundation.

A graduate of Harvard, Dr. Kaufmann has been a member of the Princeton faculty since 1947. He has also taught at Harvard, Yale, Brandeis, and Cornell, and was made Fulbright Research Professor in 1956. He has given two Lobe lectures at the University of Frankfurt and, during the summer, has lectured at Cornell, Columbia, and the University of Michigan.

COURSES TAUGHT

The courses Dr. Kaufmann has taught range from the Philosophy of Religion to German Philosophy since Kant. He has given an introductory course on Plato, and has delivered lectures on Hegel, Nietzsche, and Existentialism.

His works reveal the course of his belief. After rejecting Christianity at an early age, he became an Orthodox Jew during the Nazi period. His latest book, "The Faith of A Heretic", shows his current rejection of Judaism. His other works include "From Shakespeare to Existentialism", "Existentialism From Dostoyevsky to Sartre", and "A Critique of Religion and Philosophy".

Dr. Kaufmann's talk will begin at 8:30 pm tonight at Moyse Hall and all students are invited free of charge.

In addition, on Tuesday Dr. Kaufmann will explore the topic "Does Judaism Have Dogmas?" at Hillel House at 1 pm.

Blues Rout Laval; Daily Football Squad Defeats SEC; Cops Coveted Toilet Bowl Trophy

The Toronto Blues clinched the eastern division in the Ontario Quebec Senior Intercollegiate Hockey League as they completely outclassed the third-place Laval Rouge et Or 14-1 in Toronto Friday evening.

The first period of play was rather deceiving of what was to follow as Toronto went ahead 2-0 in a see-saw battle. By the close of the second frame, however, the battle had become a rout, as the Blues fired seven goals past Laval's stunned goalie, Jean Falardeau. Justin Lévesque scored Laval's only goal at 4:50 of the second period, lofting in a short shot on a pass from captain Claude Duguay.

GOAL-GETTERS

Third period action was also all Toronto's, as Varsity's Jesse Weller fired three markers by the Laval goalie, to go along with singletons by Steve Monteith and George Olah. Olah's goal closed out the scoring in the "contest" at 18:03. For the night, Weller netted four goals and two assists to cop top honours, followed by teammate George Hicken with three goals and two assists. Other goal-getters for Toronto were Sonny Osborne

(2), Steve Monteith (2), Bill Kennedy (1), Jim Murchie (1), and Olah (1).

TRIBUTE TO KENNEDY

Two thousand noisy partisan fans turned out to pay tribute to Toronto Hockey coach Jack Kennedy who will leave next season to accept the athletic directorship at Loyola College. In eight seasons to date, Kennedy's teams have won five championships. The Blues will play McMaster University, unbeaten Western division champions, in a two-game series in early March.

In possibly the least surprising victory since Frank Hanley's re-election to the Legislative Assembly from St. Anne's, the Daily's hastily assembled football team defeated a mercenary team flying the SEC colours in a hard-fought skirmish on the Lower Campus.

by GARTH STEVENSON

The coveted fixture from the old wing of the Windsor Hotel was won for the fourth estate with an astronomical score of 28-0. Referee Lew Moss, cheating impartially for both sides, caught one pass early in the game but declared it void.

The journalists fielded a great team, consisting largely of Peter "Mealchit" Feiner, Lewis "Mussolini" Soroka, Big Bill Hersh (imported), a few colorful sports-writers and Bob Amaron, who played with half a shirt in tribute to Canada's unemployed. Mr. Toilet himself, Bert Kovitz, failed to appear.

THE OPPOSITION

Playing for the politicians were athletic Peter King and Bob Carswell of St. Annes (not you, Frank). Richard "Sigma" Kaiser was unanimously voted rookie of the year.

Field conditions determined the quality of the play — by the time the Carnival Committee got through with the Lower Campus there was barely enough left to play a hand of poker. The goalposts on the University Street side were (was?) driven away by its (their?) prudent owner at an early stage in the proceedings. Referee Moss decided the location of the goal line to be essentially unchanged. On both sides of the field, which was 1440 pica wide at its widest, the cheering spectators were prevented with difficulty from taking part by Judith S. Zeisler and Wilf Hastings.

The game's most exciting moments were played atop the nine foot snowbank at the west end of the field. Soroka only occasionally ventured onto the lower level. Olah Nilend caught a great pass from behind the obstruction.

ROUGH PLAY

The rough play by the campus politicians resulted in severe injury for many Daily staffers: Bob Amaron suffered from third degree exposure, Steve Gruber chipped an elbow, and Cliff "Clark Street" Post, playing in a costume apparently supplied by the Players' Club, sprained his wrist. The Editor-in-Chief also suffered a wrist injury from wearing seventeen wrist watches supplied by both teams.

Gruber played in a horizontal position, scoring an impromptu touchdown after catching a pass on the two-yard line. The momentum of the ball propelled him over the line. Veteran Flenny Lanz, a toilet bowl star when Konyk was in high school, drew prolonged applause playing centre.

Interviewed after the game, Jim Khazzam, who was not present, attributed the Daily success to two months of grueling workouts with the Toronto phone book. Referee Moss was also asked if he had a statement for the press and replied as follows: "Yes."

ful. According to the high standards set in the past, this year's has produced the greatest turn-out and greatest amount of student participation ever. On Friday night, we had almost 3,000 in the Gym and turned away over 500 at the door."

He publically congratulated his large executive at the Friday night show and singled out Vice-chairman Sonny Gordon for special praise.

DeZwirek absolved McGill students of the blame for breaking down the illumination on the Ice Castle (there will be no lighting this week) and stated that he has witnesses to prove that the overturning of two cars on the Campus on Thursday was not performed by McGill students.

Other harmless incidents took place during the week under the organization of McGillians: The giant BP flag stolen from its pole — it will be returned; the painting of various parts of the anatomy of the "Three Bares" with red paint; and the "kidnapping" of the princesses by five engineers, Yehudi Freedman, Art Dufresne, Pete Rinfret, Mike McGarry and Bob Valentine. The plumbers showed the girls a wonderful time and as Freedman put it "We just wanted to break their tedious routine and have some fun. The girls really enjoyed themselves and at no time were prevented from calling home. They endorsed the decision not to be caught by the Executive at the Chanteclerc.

Virtually everyone questioned agreed that this year's carnival was "better than ever".

Wrestlers Cop Novice Title

Last Wednesday night at the Davis YMHA, the McGill wrestling team coped the Provincial Novice Wrestling Championship. McGill, in winning the team title, compiled 72 points, 12 points more than second place Central YMCA.

The host team and St. Jean-Baptiste were far behind with 16 and 12 points respectively. The McGill squad was awarded the Barney Krause Memorial Trophy and McGill coach Alan Turnbull won the Coaches' Trophy for the second year in a row.

WIN FOUR CHAMPIONSHIPS

McGill wrestlers won four out of eight individual championships and were runners-up in three others. McGill champions were Sam Stein in the 114-pound class, Dave Owen in the 139-pound class, John Waldes in the 154-pound class and Jack Richards in the 191-pound class. Second-place finishers were Michael Szikman at 114 pounds, Paul Wilson at 154 pounds and Henry Martin at 172 pounds. Grant Tingley placed third in the 123-pound class and Wake Fenton was fourth in the 191-pound class.

In the 114-pound class, two McGill wrestlers wound up tied for top honours. Sam Stein had won two matches by falls and drawn in his match against teammate Michael Szikman, who had an identical record. Stein became champion when he tipped the scales two pounds lighter than Szikman. A 1-2 final placing for McGill.

OWEN TOPS 139-POUNDERS

Dave Owen won one match by a fall, one by a decision, and one by default in winning the 139-pound title. Dave has the best record of all McGill wrestlers so far this year, with six victories against three losses.

John Waldes decisioned teammate Paul Wilson to capture the 154-pound title. Waldes won three matches and drew against Central Y's Bob Thayer. Wilson won two decisions before losing to Waldes. Again, a McGill 1-2 final placing.

Jack Richards only needed two wins to capture the 191-pound title. Richards ran into little trouble scoring victories in his two matches.

Henry Martin won two matches and lost one in placing second in the 172-pound class. Martin's only loss came at the hands of Central YMCA's Larry Barron.

McGill's Grant Tingley had one win against two defeats in placing third in the 123-pound class.

McGill wrestlers far outclassed their opponents in winning the team trophy. Central YMCA had four high school wrestlers on its squad, and these boys did surprisingly well. This is good news for McGill wrestling for three of these boys, Larry Barron, Bob Thayer and Andre Berzins, are planning to enter McGill next year.

O.Q.P.A. CHAMPIONSHIPS APPROACHING

McGill's showing in this tournament showed that the squad is just about in top condition. This week the wrestlers will hold their final three workouts before leaving for Toronto and the O.Q.A.A. Championships. Coach Alan Turnbull is expecting the squad to come up with an impressive showing in the Queen City. The coach expects McGill to win from two to four of their individual titles and has hopes of a McGill team victory.

9 McGill Gridders Drafted by Pros

Recently, in Vancouver, the announcement was made that nine members of the '61 football Redmen were drafted at the college draft meetings held by the Eastern Pro-Football Conference. Of the nine selections made, only half-back Harry Haukkala was picked by the Montreal Alouettes. Hamilton, meanwhile, landed four McGill players, while Toronto and Ottawa each drafted two members of the '61 Redmen.

Hamilton's selections included halfback John Roberts, and tackles Leo Konyk, Bob Knebel, and Colin Russel, while guard Chuck Wood and halfback Bob Windsor were drafted by Ottawa and linebacker Tony Blair and centre John Cleg-horn by Toronto.

Harrier Team Wins In Carnival Relay

For the second successive year, there was a road relay from the McGill campus to Mont Habitant, the scene of the "up north" part of the Winter Carnival. This year, the competition was between the McGill Harrier Team and a team from the U of M, and McGill was victorious in record time.

The competition rules state that a team should consist of a maximum of six runners and a minimum of four. The distance covered by each runner is decided by the team manager who can replace a man wherever he thinks it necessary, except during the last three miles.

At 7 pm on Friday, the runners left the campus, each team accompanied by two vehicles carrying the runners not engaged in the first leg.

For the first 15 miles, both teams ran together until Dave Prebble of McGill opened up a gap of about 30 yards. From this point, the McGill team continued to hold a lead although on three occasions, it was reduced to only a few yards. However, at Piedmont, which is roughly the 45-mile point, the McGill team was approximately half a mile ahead and all of the McGill runners were able to cover the final 3½ miles.

The winning time was 4 hrs 15 secs, which was over 40 minutes faster than the time in 1961. Jaki-miw of the U of M ran a very strong last leg to cross the line in 4 hrs 52 minutes 10 secs, well ahead of the rest of his team.
